Dear Committee Members:

On behalf of HOB I International, Inc., I am pleased to express our support of the development of the Illini Gadget Garage: Education through Electronic Product Life Extension. As an Illini alumnus, I fully believe this initiative will only enhance the educational value and experience for the university's students.

HOB I firmly believes in programs that extend the lives of electronic products as well as provide a means for environmentally responsible disposal. As a company, we've made it our business. HOB I is a certified by Sustainable Electronics Recycling International (SERI) as a Responsible Recycler (R2), which means we are dedicated to the sustainable reuse and recycling of used electronics. As such, our R2 designation comes with a responsibility to promote and to educate the benefits of responsible reuse models.

As a result of HOB I's sustainability commitment, we fully support Illini Gadget Garage: Education through Electronic Product Life Extension as a diamond sponsor. We believe that fostering a sustainability mindset through educational initiatives such as this is a huge leap forward in creating a healthier environment for future generations.

Sincerely,

Craig Boswell
President
HOB I International, Inc.
